The Marathon Electric Water Heater

With Marathon's lifetime tank warranty, it's the last water heater you'll ever need.

Energy-efficient electric water heating is clean, quiet, worry-free and can save you money. No flues and no venting mean easy, flexible installation and no heat escaping up the flue.

A Marathon water heater is a smart choice because it's built to last as long as you own your home with environmentally friendly and energy-saving features that will save you money – year after year.

- Save money on your power bill while your hot water stays hot. Thick Envirofoam® insulation maintains a consistent hot water temperature day in, day out.
- The Marathon is one of the most energy-efficient water heaters available with the lowest standby losses of any storage tank water heater.
- A Marathon water heater comes with a manufacturer's lifetime tank warranty. It will be the last water heater you need for your home.
- Make the smart choice for a new home with a high-efficiency Marathon electric water heater that's tough on the outside with an inner tank that won't rust or corrode – and when it's built this tough you won't be replacing it in a few years.

The non-metallic tank won't rust or corrode – it's built to last a lifetime in your home, not in a landfill.

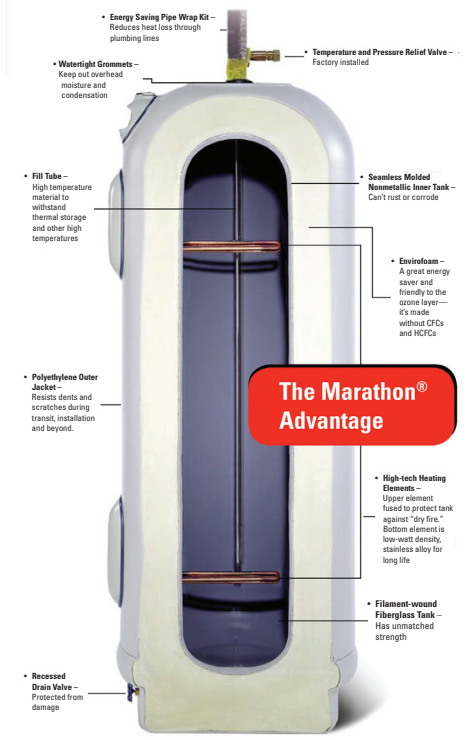

The Marathon Advantage

Energy saving, energy-efficient and built to last - Plus much more!

- Bowl-shaped bottom for easier and more complete sediment draining.
- Wiring connections are standard.
- The most energy-efficient water heater in its class.
- Many sizes available – full sized 40, 50 85 and 105 gallon models and point-of-use models.

Lifetime Tank/6 Year Parts Warranty

Privately owned, single family dwelling – the tank is warranted not to leak for as long as you own your home. If the home is sold, the warranty reverts to fifteen years from the date of installation and the second owner receives coverage for the time remaining. Parts are warranted for 6 years from date of manufacture or 5 years from the effective date, whichever is greater.

Always on.™
