

Gordon Martin is senior vice president of Corporate and Administrative Services at Alabama Power Company, where he has responsibility for the company's General Services (including corporate facilities and operations, and property services), Supply Chain (including contracts, procurement, materials distribution, investment recovery, supplier diversity, and technical support), Fleet Services, Meeting and Event Services, and Corporate Real Estate (including land acquisition, land and shoreline management, and sales leasing, and development). Martin is also responsible for Corporate Security, Business Assurance, and Information Technology.

Martin served for eight years as the company's General Counsel as well as seven years as its Division Vice President in Montgomery. He has held management positions in Generation Planning and Development, Fuels, and External Affairs. He also served as the company's lead government affairs representative in Washington, D.C. Before joining Alabama Power Company, Martin was a legislative lawyer with Hogan & Hartson (now Hogan Lovells), Washington D.C.'s largest law firm, and a legislative assistant to U.S. Senator Howell Heflin and the Senate Judiciary Subcommittee on Courts.

A native of Birmingham, Martin graduated cum laude from the University of Alabama, where he was elected President of the Student Government Association. He also earned a law degree from the University of Alabama and a Master of Public Administration degree from George Washington University. He studied international law in London, where he worked for a member of the British Parliament, and has completed executive coursework at the Wharton School at the University of Pennsylvania and Oxford University in England.

In the area of economic development, Martin served for eight years as Chairman of the Board of the Montgomery Riverfront Development Foundation, where he was instrumental in the revitalization of Montgomery's downtown, which includes Riverwalk Stadium, the Montgomery Biscuits baseball team, an entertainment district, and a four-star convention center and hotel. Martin is also past Chairman of the Board of Directors of the Montgomery Area Chamber of Commerce.

In the area of education, Martin serves as Chair of the Board of Directors of the A+ Education Partnership and Immediate Past Chairman of Board of Trustees of the McWane Science Center. At The University of Alabama, Martin is a member of the President's Cabinet and serves as Chairperson of the the Board of the Blackburn Institute. He previously served on the Board of Trustees of Huntingdon College and advisory boards at Auburn University, Auburn University Montgomery, and Birmingham-Southern College.

Martin has played a leadership role in numerous charitable and civic organizations. He is Chairman of the Board of Leadership Alabama, Vice Chair of the Board of the Alabama Shakespeare Festival, and Immediate Past Chair of the Board at the The American Village. He is a member of the Board and Past President of the Public Affairs Research Council of Alabama, Alabama's "good government" think tank. In addition to his past board service at the United Way of Central Alabama and co-chairing the Health Care Bold Goals Coalition, Martin led the 2012 campaign, which raised more than $37.5 million, making it the 12th largest United Way campaign in the country.

Martin is a graduate of Leadership Alabama, Leadership Montgomery and Leadership Shelby County. He was named the Montgomery Advertiser's Citizen of the Year in 2006 and was the recipient of the Montgomery Sunrise Rotary Club's 2007 Commitment to Service Award.

Martin and his wife, Margret, have five children: Tucker (23), a student at Samford University's Cumberland School of Law; Baily (21) and Perry (19), both at The University of Alabama Honors College; Lilly (16), and Walker (9).

Gordon G. Martin
Senior Vice President of Corporate and Administrative Services
Alabama Power
Company

