

Myla E. Calhoun is president of the Alabama Power Foundation and vice president of Charitable Giving for Alabama Power. Since its inception 30 years ago, the foundation has awarded more than $240 million in grants to Alabama nonprofits, education institutions and community organizations. It is the largest corporate foundation in the state and ranks among the top 2% of corporate foundations nationally. Alabama Power contributes gifts of time to the community through its employee volunteer group, the Alabama Power Service Organization (APSO), and retiree volunteer group, the Energizers. Together, APSO and Energizers donate nearly 100,000 volunteer hours each year.

Prior to joining Alabama Power, Calhoun was general counsel and senior vice president of Regional Development and Public Policy for the Birmingham Business Alliance, where she led diverse teams focused on regional revitalization, workforce development, education initiatives and young professionals engagement.

Calhoun previously served as legal counsel for United States Pipe and Foundry Company LLC. Before joining U.S. Pipe, she was associated with Spain & Gillon LLC, where her practice focused on urban renewal and revitalization, municipal finance and governmental affairs.

Myla E. Calhoun
President,
Alabama Power
Foundation

Calhoun is a 2018 Aspen Institute Ascend Fellow and a member of the advisory board for Stonehenge Capital, a nationally recognized leader in community development finance. She is a member of the Alabama Workforce Council and serves on the boards of directors for Children's of Alabama, the Community Foundation of Greater Birmingham, Opportunity Alabama, TechAlabama, the Birmingham Museum of Art, Indian Springs School and the Virginia Samford Theatre. She previously served on the board of trustees at Tuskegee University.

Calhoun is a graduate of Spelman College in Atlanta, Georgia, and the University of Alabama School of Law. She is the proud mother of two daughters.

